Job Service office to close August 31

BY JANET MCQUEEN

A dog-eared sign in the Bay St. Louis employment office states:

"Due to staff reductions, you may have to wait longer to talk with an interviewer. Please be patient and understanding. We regret the inconvenience."

The ultimate inconvenience will be dealt to the unemployed when the local office closes on August 31.

Employees Ann Ladner and Sandra Price were notified Friday of the closure and their layoffs. A third employee, senior citizen's aide Ruth Gordon, will also be dismissed.

Persons seeking employment will be directed to the Gulfport office, where they will join unemployed persons from Jackson, Green, George, Stone, and Pearl River counties—all who have been affected by local closures in their respective communities.

The closures were announced as the Mississippi Employment Security Commission restructures in the face of a $4.6 million federal budget shortfall, according to Linda Ross Aldy, MESC executive director.

The Job Service office at Stennis Space Center will remain open, and supervising interviewer Jo Ree Landrum expects to see an increase in traffic.

"We are a high volume office and receive inquiries from all over the United States," she said. But due to the high technology nature of most of the available jobs at Stennis, a person with only a high school diploma is likely to come up empty handed.

"The only manufacturing-type jobs were available at the Army Ammunition Plant," she said, which will pare its work force from 1,700 to 400 by the end of this month in preparation for mothballing.

The Bay St. Louis office fields approximately 400-500 telephone calls and walk-ins per week, according to Ladner, who estimates more than one half of her clients will be unable to drive to Gulfport for the mandatory interview required for placement.

"It is the people who have the least who stand to lose the most," noted Ladner. "Many lack the self-confidence or ability to just walk in a business and present themselves for employment. We reassure them that a lack of education doesn't always mean they are not qualified for a job."

On Wednesday morning, they had already placed two grass cutters with jobs. "How many people like that are going to go to Gulfport?" she asked. "But they are able and willing to work."

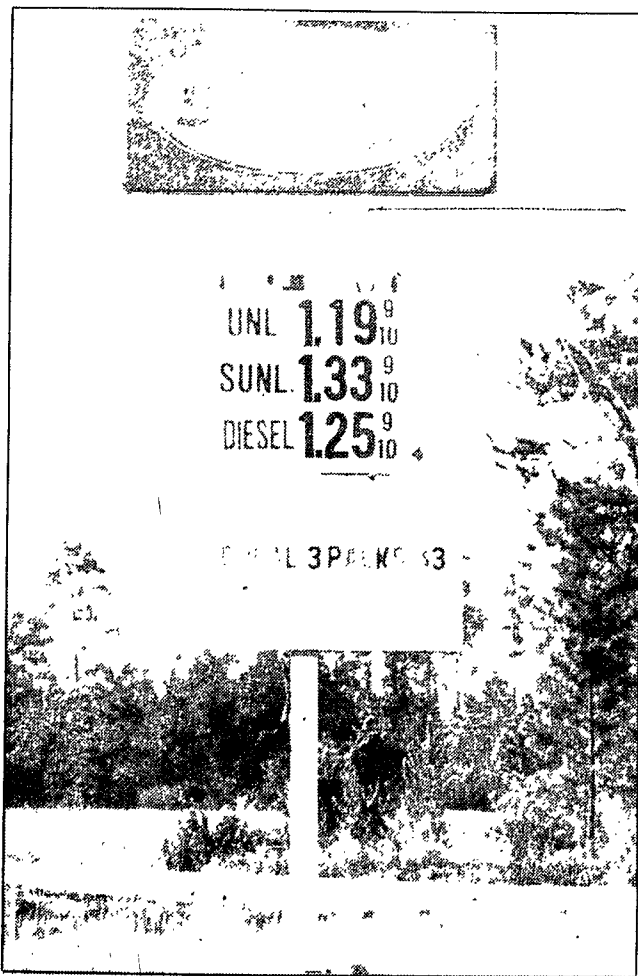

Sandra Price, who has worked in the Bay St. Louis office for 11 years, said many of their clients do not have telephones in their homes, or transportation.

"The employers will also suffer," she said. "So many of them rely on our knowledge of their businesses to send them the right employees. Now a computer will match job description with work history."

Going up

Prices at pump alarm motorists

Prices for unleaded gasoline averaged $1.19 per gallon Wednesday as shown at the Spur station, intersection Hwy 603 and I-10 (Photo by Janet McQueen)

BY TRACI BONNEY

If you had to choose between putting food on the table and putting gas in the car, which would you pick? Relax; the situation isn't that drastic — yet.

However, rising fuel prices — caused in part by the conflict between Iraq's President Saddam Hussein and Saudi Arabia — do have most motorists and many gas station proprietors concerned.

Tom Russell, owner of Russell's Shell State in Pass Christian, said prices had increased 12 cents a gallon as of Friday and are expected to go up again.

"The station by the harbor (Eagle Food Mart) has gas at $1.24 a gallon, and our self-service regular is $1.19 a gallon, so it must have gone up again today or yesterday," he said Wednesday.

"I'll know how much ours is going up when I get in a new load of gas tomorrow night."

John Mason, owner of Mason's Exxon in Waveland, said gas at his station has increased a total of 10 cents a gallon so far.

As for whether or not it will continue to increase, he said, "Your guess is as good as mine. Until the prices come in over the computer, I won't know."

Prices at Mason's Wednesday were $1.18 a gallon for regular unleaded gas, $1.27 a gallon for plus and $1.35 a gallon for premium.

Weather may delay move to new school

BY TRACI BONNEY

Students attending the new Hancock Junior/Senior High School may not start the school year on time, according to project manager Pat Mixon.

Mixon told the county school board at its Monday meeting that the recent wet weather is delaying the paving of parking lots and driveways, the construction of sidewalks and other necessary grounds work at the new school.

"I'd like to be able to do something," he said, "but I can't get out there with a blow dryer."

The board discussed the matter, but decided to wait before taking action in order to see what work can be accomplished this week.

The board also opened and took under advisement bids for property insurance; an office computer, printer and software; Chapter I computer equipment; the sale of several modular classrooms from Hancock North Central; office machine maintenance; and a water tank to replace one at Gulfview Elementary School.

In other matters, the board: —accepted School Food Service bid evaluations; —approved a request to purchase testing material from Silver Burdett & Ginn as a single source item;

—accepted low quotes from Star Chevrolet Co. and Cap Engine Rebuilders for school bus parts and a short block engine;

—approved a request to advertise for bids on two site preparation and planting jobs and one timber sale on 16th Section land;

—accepted quotes on steam table repairs at Gulfview and Charles B. Murphy elementary schools;

—approved the resignations of Samuel L. Harvill Sr., Pamela S. Ladner and Cynthia Geissinger; —approved recommendations to employ Dewey Atwood, Lloyd Wilson, Sharon Klein, Tina Ladner and Wendy G. Curet;

—approved recommendations for coaching assignments

Highway Patrol 'recycles' vehicles seized in arrests

BY TRACI BONNEY

Criminals, beware. The Mississippi Highway Patrol is using your own cars against you.

Trooper Roy Fullerton, who patrols in Hancock County, is the proud — and often amused — driver of a 1985 Mustang GT patrol car seized as a result of the Traveling Criminal Apprehension Program (TCAP) in 1989 during a traffic violation stop in Chickasaw County.

The car, Fullerton said, was clocked at 101 miles per hour in a 55 mph zone. After stopping the car, law enforcement officials arrested the occupants and charged them with possession of a controlled substance with intent to distribute.

Instead of sending that car and others like it to the auction block, the state's courts are awarding the vehicles to the Highway Patrol to "recycle" and use as patrol cars.

Fullerton said he enjoys driving the black Mustang, adorned with the phrase "drug seized" and the Highway Patrol's emblem, because of the reactions of other motorists.

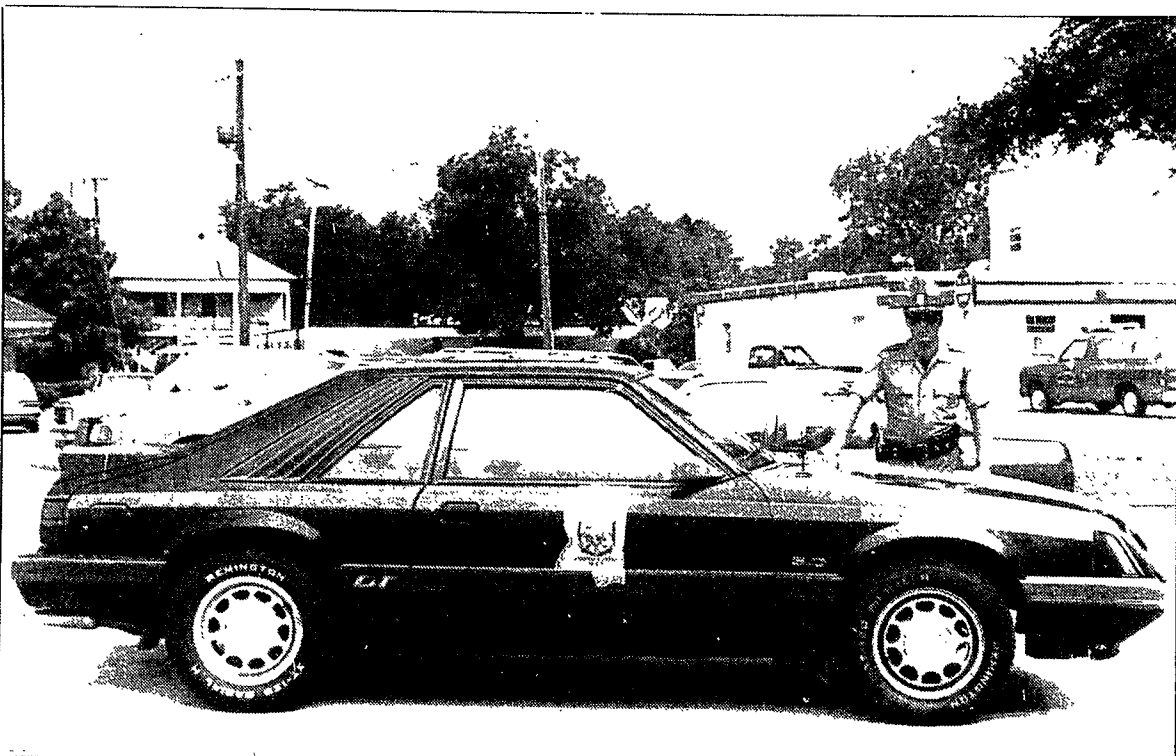

"I love going down the highway and seeing people pointing at the car and saying, 'Look at that! Can you believe it?'"

Fullerton said TCAP, which has been in operation since 1987, is a program where the officer, when he has a vehicle stopped on a valid violation, uses his training to investigate the vehicle and people more closely.

Cars seized through TCAP are not just those being used in drug-related crimes, he added. Other cases where seizures are made include felony fugitives,

The Hancock County Board of Supervisors accepted a recommendation from the tax assessor/collector's office Monday to levy taxes on the Notre Dame de la Mer apartment complex.

The property where the complex is located is taxable under state law, according to Tax Assessor/Collector Edward Murtagh, who said that any property owned by a religious or charitable organization but not used for religious purposes is not tax-exempt.

The board also hired Harry R. "Randy" Smith as county agent on the recommendation of Dr. Joyce O'Keefe, coastal area director of the Cooperative Extension Service.

Smith, 32, is a Mississippi State University graduate who has worked five years in the Cooperative Extension Service and has experience in dealing with wetlands issues. He replaces Lee Taylor, who left the office almost a year ago.

In other reports, county engineer Larry Seal told board members that he and state aid engineer Brooks Miller had discussed the Lower Bay Road tar bleeding problem and had come up with a temporary solution. Seal said the county could sand the road, select the spots that most need an overlay, and enter

Attempted arsons heat up sheriff's department activity

BY TRACI BONNEY

The Hancock County Sheriff's Department made three arrests over the weekend on charges of aggravated assault and attempted arson in two separate incidents, according to Investigator Matt Karl.

Darryl Bingham, 37, and Richard Kuss, 27, both of Bay St. Louis, were arrested Saturday and charged with one count each of aggravated assault and attempted arson after an argument early Saturday morning at Todd's Mini Mart between Kuss and Robbie Standerford of Shoreline Park.

Karl said Kuss is reported to have threatened to burn down Standerford's trailer.

Around 9 a.m., Deputy Keny Hurt received a call to go to Standerford's trailer, where it was found that three molotov cocktails had been thrown at the trailer and had scorched it in several spots.

Karl said several people were asleep in the trailer at the time of the incident.

Bingham and Kuss were arrested on the testimony of eyewitnesses. The two men remain in the Hancock County jail on bonds of $25,000 each.

Karl, fire marshal Jay Marsh and Hurt participated in the investigation. In addition, the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms was notified of the incident.

Arrested in an unrelated incident Sunday afternoon was Cecil Brown, 42, of Shreveport,

ST. ANN CHURCH NEWS

A thought for meditation from our pastor Father Justin Furman, ST.

"A man is never so tall as when he kneels before God. Never more dependable than when he depends on God. Never so strong as when he draws upon God's strength. Never so wise as when in his lack of wisdom, he seeks Divine Guidance. Truly the man who most relies on God will be the most reliable man."

Burglary suspects nabbed; stolen property recovered

BY TRACI BONNEY
 The Hancock, Harrison and Pearl River County sheriff's offices are coordinating efforts in an investigation that has led to the arrests of five suspects on burglary charges and the seizure of a large amount of stolen property.

Being held in the Pearl River County jail are Brett Alexander Jacobsen, 18, of Poplarville; Richard Brown, 30, of Slidell, La.; and Theresa Gillen, 20, also of Slidell. In custody at the Harrison County jail is Ricky Dale Shaw, 21. A 16-year-old juvenile is also in detention in Harrison County.

Hancock County Sheriff's Investigator Nathan Hoda said Wednesday that three suspects remain at large.

Hoda said the arrests in Pearl River County stemmed from the Harrison County arrests. "When I talked to the folks in Harrison County, I thought the people sounded like who we were looking for on some burglaries. So I got with the people at the Pearl River Sheriff's Office, and we worked with them to get a warrant to go search a trailer in southern Pearl River County."

The suspects arrested are charged with numerous counts of burglary of businesses, residences and churches. Gillen is being charged with accessory after the fact of burglary.

Hoda said the recovered items were "things for a family": food, toiletries, furniture, tools, kitchen appliances, money, lawnmowers, televisions, VCRs and about 1,200 movie tapes, saddles, an inflatable boat, typewriters, radios, fireworks, paintings and more.

Hoda estimated the value of the stolen property at about $200,000.

"We seized three U-Haul truckloads and a big trailer load of items," he said.

Investigator Matt Karl is working with Hoda in Hancock County's part of the investigation.

Hancock County Sheriff Ronnie Peterson said, "What led to the seizure of the stolen property was the three counties working together. It's been a long time since I've seen the counties work together like that. I'm very pleased with the results."

KILLING TIME

By Traci Bonney

Answering machine illiteracy

"Hello, you have reached Traci Bonney's residence. Traci cannot come to the phone at this time, but if you will leave a name and number after the sound of the beep, she will return your call as soon as possible. Thank you."

Okay, folks, what's the deal? Why have I gotten two wrong numbers on the answering machine in the past two weeks?

Wait, you say. How do I know they are wrong numbers?

Well, my name is neither Felicia nor Trish.

The question for the day, boys and girls, is: Why do people neglect to listen to the message when an answering machine takes their calls?

When you call my house and get the answering machine, you hear: "Hello. You have reached the Bonney residence."

Now, unless Felicia and Trish (whoever they are) happen to be a couple of relatives I know nothing about, who have been secretly using my house and leaving it exactly as they found it (which would be very difficult to do), then someone has the wrong number.

Next time you call someone and get an answering machine message, LISTEN!!! After all, why should you waste your time leaving a message that will never reach the intended party?

Another thing: if you plan to leave a message (assuming you've reached the right machine), please leave a name and phone number.

I got a message the other day to call the company that financed my car. The guy left no name or number, and since his call was long distance, he wasted his time and money and my time.

His time and money were wasted in leaving a message I couldn't answer, since I didn't know whether he wanted me to call the regional office or the one where I send my payments. My time was wasted in listening to a useless message.

A co-worker of mine, upon hearing of the subject of this week's column, brought up another problem with people and answering machines.

Her machine has a series of three short beeps and one long one. You can't leave a message until after the long beep, but people persist in starting to talk after the short ones. This means she gets only half the message.

* * *

Are these incidents just flukes, mere coincidences? Or is this indicative of an insidious plague running rampant in our society? Have we become a nation of (dramatic pause) ... answering machine illiterates?

Answering machine illiteracy: an epidemic of epidemic proportions, one that afflicts the common sense and intelligence of millions of Americans each day.

What has caused this menace?

Researchers have found one possible cause of this plague. They have discovered that many people fear answering machines for some reason.

Why are people afraid of these inanimate objects? Some, perhaps, were abused by a violent answering machine during childhood. Some may have been betrayed by a trusted family machine that didn't relay an important message as it should have.

What can we do to halt answering machine illiteracy?

We'll return with more of "Answering Machine Illiteracy: The Secret Disease" after these messages.

* * *

Okay, folks, all kidding aside. I know some of you hate answering machines for either normal or odd reasons. But for goodness' sake, it's just a machine!

It can be a friend to you (if an inanimate object can be called a friend), but you have to cooperate. Remember: listen to make sure you have the right number, then leave your message, with a name and phone number, after the beep.

A road to avoid

Gas

At Pat's Chevron, owner Pat Peresich said his prices have increased since Saturday from $1.09 to $1.19 for regular gas, from $1.17 to $1.24 for plus and from $1.35 to $1.39 for premium.

"The confusing thing is, the people at the pumps are getting only half the story," he commented. "Chevron's wholesale prices were already 10 to 12 cents a gallon higher than everyone else's. Since my station is a Chevron station, I can buy gas only from Chevron, nowhere else."

"The independent stations call around, find out who has the lowest dealer tank prices the day they want to buy, and buy that gas. I can't do that. I'm a captive market."

Peresich said future gas prices depend on what happens overseas.

"If Saudi Arabia makes up the difference (in the oil supply reduced by the United States' embargo against Iraq), I don't think it will be anything disastrous. But if we break our embargo, there'll be problems. When you're dealing with a madman, who knows?"

Peresich said he thinks the oil companies are taking undue advantage of the overseas crisis, and that it will hurt both dealers and consumers.

"When the companies raise prices, they increase them six, seven, eight cents at a time or more. What bothers me about that is that when they lower the prices, they only lower them an eighth of a cent or one cent. The prices won't get back to normal for a long time at that rate."

Peresich said the country needs a strong national energy policy.

"When a country this large depends on other countries for half its fuel supply, that's a catastrophe."

La., who was charged with two counts of aggravated assault and one count of attempted arson.

Karl said Brown's arrest resulted from a domestic quarrel between Brown and his girlfriend, Sherri Dant of Shreveport.

After an argument, Brown followed Dant from Shreveport to her parents' trailer on Pine Hill Road in Pass Christian to retrieve some items that belonged to him. Karl said they began arguing again at Dant's parents' trailer, and Brown started to pour gasoline on Dant while holding a lighter in one hand.

Karl said Dant managed to knock the lighter out of Brown's hand and escape while Dant's mother called 911. Deputies Hurt and Deron Cuevas arrived and arrested Brown at about 1 p.m.

Brown is currently in the Hancock County jail under a $25,000 bond.

Karl, Marsh, Hurt and Cuevas participated in the investigation.

Employment Service closure to hurt many

It was sad news to hear about the pending closure of the Bay St. Louis office of the Mississippi Employment Service.

The Employment Service has played an important role in Hancock County for so many years, and the work of Ann Ladner and Sandra Price will surely be missed by those seeking employment, as well as by employers seeking employees.

The reason we are told the office in Bay St. Louis, as well as others in the area, is closing is because of a $4.6 million budget shortfall.

It is hard to believe that the Mississippi Gulf Coast and adjacent counties, which must have the largest concentration of population of any area in the state, is going to have only one Employment Service office.

The Bay St. Louis Employment Service served 400 to 500 people a week. We wonder how folks who are out of work are going to be able to provide transportation for themselves to get to the Employment Service in Gulfport.

Surely, the Gulfport office, which will be handling Hancock, Harrison, Jackson, Stone, George and Greene counties, should also have an overflow of traffic.

It will probably take an entire day to speak to someone with such a rush of people using one office.

Statewide, 100 Employment Service personnel will also lose their jobs.

It seems someone should be looking out for the welfare of the employees looking for work, as well as the employer looking for employees.

"QUOTABLE QUOTES"

By Ellis C. Cuevas

It hasn't taken long for the effects of the Kuwait invasion to reach us in Hancock County, and it has reached us in our pocket books.

It always amazes me that it only takes an instant for the price of gas to increase when the price of crude increases, and yet, when the price of crude goes down, it appears to take forever for a reduction in price to reach the pumps.

I am glad to see so many folks up in arms about the fast price increases from local folks to our governors, senators and congressmen.

No matter what the outcome of the Kuwait invasion, we as Americans will be paying for it for a long time to come at our gas pumps and with higher prices for everything from food to clothing.

I am hoping Congress can do something to help Americans weather this storm.

It sure felt good Wednesday morning when I walked outside and realized we had a little cool spell.

It has been so hot and muggy for the past month that the cooler air sure felt good.

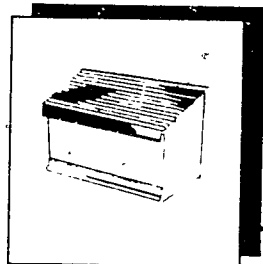

We are now in the second half of summer and it has felt like we have already been through an entire summer.

The rains, even though some areas had strong winds, were welcome to many of us in the southern part of the county this past weekend.

We could still use a bit more moisture as it has been dry for so long.

HEADSTONES DAMAGED—Two headstones on a family plot in the Cedar Rest Cemetery were knocked down by a large limb blown down by severe winds over the weekend. ## LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Gulfview parent responds to letter

Dear Editor,

This letter is in reply to a Letter to the Editor from Annette Moran alleging a Gulfview administrator's right in maintaining discipline.

I, as a parent, also believe in better education; but standing up to school officials who are falsely accusing your child of destruction of school property is what every parent must do.

Now the parents of such children must do whatever it takes to make school officials realize that if compensation is what is wanted, they should reprimand the correct student, not lash out at one.

These students do not lack the desire to learn. There are more students who disrupt class than one. Parents need to know the truth not just putting your comments in the paper.

Do some checking on the kind of discipline given in the school.

You say we're not doing our job at home of disciplining our children. People should practice what they preach.

Sincerely,
Veronica Rodriguez
Bay St. Louis

P.S. The picketing did not concern destroying school property. It was in reference to the abuse of children.

Getting back to basics would solve world's ills

To the Editor:

If very many of the readers of the Sea Coast Echo are like we are, they do not like the way things are going these days. Everything seems to be out of control. People are regularly dying of cancer, AIDS, murders in the streets and in the abortion clinics.

It should be obvious to everyone that the economy is teetering on the brink of ruin. The S&L scandal involves hundreds of billions of dollars. That translates into thousands of dollars for each American to repay.

Americans are working to pay off their own debts. How can they take on the extra burdens of the debts of others? In addition to all of these traumas, our environment is being destroyed by just about everything the society does.

If we had reliable and sober leaders, whom we could trust to get us out of all of this mess, it wouldn't be so bad; but we don't. Every day we hear about the corruption of our elected and appointed officials. They are promiscuous, they are homosexual, they are corrupt, they are inept.

Drugs pollute the minds of the leaders as well as the youth of our nation. The "drug wars" are a scam. News reports that more drugs are now entering the country than before the war on drugs began. The problem is not too hard to solve. It is too lucrative to solve.

All of these problems and others have their solutions in one place. We as a neighborhood, we as a community, town, city and nation must get back to the basics. All of the nuances are not working. They are, instead, causing us a great deal of difficulty.

All of the drugs and chemicals that we are taking to make life "better" are not working. Cancer has been found to have its origin in many of them. Debt is not and has never been the solution to anything. It only gets worse. We must stop buying things that we cannot pay for. Drugs, like alcohol and nicotine must be legalized and taxed. If we stop them, we take away freedoms. People are still using drugs. It's about time we faced up to the fact that they are here to stay.

Abortion is not an issue. It is just plain murder. Women do have a choice. They have the choice to get pregnant or not to get pregnant (whatever that takes). But once you are pregnant, you are carrying a child. That child is not "yours." He or she is just along for the ride until he or she gets big enough to walk. Then you are free to "walk" away if you want; but you do not have the choice to kill him or her any more than the murderer who is serving time on death row had the right to kill. Getting back to basics concerning abortion simply means that we hold on to our long-standing value for life.

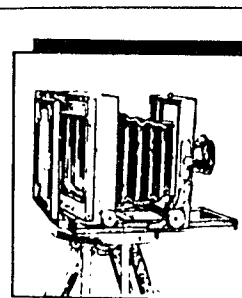

The willful and careless pollution of the air that we breathe and the water that we drink, and the earth from which we get all of our food, is also responsible for many of the sicknesses and diseases that we have today. Death is the only result from pollution. There is nothing good about it.

When government officials shun their responsibilities for political reasons, and do not enforce the laws which are already enacted to prevent pollution, they are directly responsible for those sicknesses and deaths. Just because someone is poor, and cannot afford to get the car fixed, is not excuse to continue pouring poisonous gasses into the air. When a vehicle is not functioning properly, it must be restricted. That is the law. It is the basics.

These and many other of the tragedies that our society is experiencing are rooted directly in the fact that we have gotten away from the basics. One of the basics is that we must be involved in our community.

If each person reading the Sea Coast Echo today would resolve to choose one of these problems and to get busy working on it, improvement would take place. If, however, we continue on the path that we are all on, very soon the world as we know it will be changing radically for the worse. Then, whether we like it or not, whether we do something about it or not, we will all find ourselves back to the basics of the struggle to survive.

Military projects move forward

The House Armed Services Committee, of which I am a member, last week agreed to accept a subcommittee's recommendation to keep the valuable homeport project in Pascagoula.

Also, the committee inserted language in the Department of Defense Authorization bill that says Defense Secretary Richard Cheney should not be able to place a moratorium on construction projects like the homeports. The resolution sends a strong message to the Defense Secretary.

Congress, not the Cabinet, provides for the national defense.

Homeports have a lot of support in Congress and in the respective local communities. Congress intends to protect the projects.

More good military news—At a time when bases are being closed across the nation, we are pleased that the military recognizes the importance of South Mississippi's military installation. Not only were we fortunate enough to receive approval for projects our serves had already slated for construction, we were successful ful in adding several projects to the appropriations list.

The House of Representatives approved $14,230,000 for military construction projects in Mississippi. The funding was included in the 1991 Military Construction Appropriations bill and consists of the following:

—$1,170,000 for construction of an applied instruction building and $7,540,000 for barracks at the Naval Construction Battalion Center.

—$490,000 for the construction of an engineering maintenance facility and $2,300,000 for a communications electronics training facility was added to the appropriations bill for the Gulfport Air Guard. Also, included in the package was $1.4 million that the Guard requested for construction of a vehicle maintenance facility and a supply warehouse.

—$730,000 was added to the appropriations bill for construction of a bachelor's officer quarters and an ammunition supply plant at Camp Shelby near Hattiesburg.

—$600,000 for a Medical Training Facility at Keesler.

Staying inside won't get yard chores done

By Dr. Milo Burnham
Horticulturist
Mississippi Cooperative
Extension Service

The last full month of summer is upon us. If typical, its oppressively hot days, high humidities and little rain will drag us down to the point of begging for cooler weather.

It will be easy to stay in the house or sit in the shade of a large tree with a cool drink in hand and do nothing.

But, that won't get the yard chores done, and August is full of them. About the only good thing some people see in August is that school starts again.

If there is one month of the year that we could do without, most Mississippians would probably pick August. There's hardly a plant growing in the yard that doesn't have some special need or won't benefit from some type of special care this month.

A major concern for all plants is adequate soil moisture. Hurricanes—"tis the season"—bring general rains (generally too much) but thunder storms are localized, frequently wetting only limited areas within a county.

When watering, water deep. Daily, light sprinkling won't do the job. All to often, lawns, flower beds and the vegetable garden get the bulk of the water while trees and shrubs are forgotten.

This has been a tough year on roses. Heavy pruning, necessitated by the December 1989 freeze, the freezing of new growth in turfgrasses in the state, the planting season begins to close down in mid-August in north Mississippi and in late September along the Gulf Coast. The time for establishing cool-season turfgrasses doesn't begin until early September.

The subject of late summer and fall fertilization of that means possible loss to cold weather.

Water is an absolute necessity for fall vegetable gardening success. Keep the soil moist until seeds germinate and seedlings are established. Other cool-season vegetables such as turnips, mustard, radishes and spinach can be planted in late August and early September. *** spring and severe outbreaks of black spot, have weakened rose bushes.

"Roses in Mississippi," Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service Publication No. 529, which is available at county extension offices, recommends fertilizing roses in August.

Broadcast 2 pounds of 6-8-8 or 8-8-8 analysis fertilizer per 100 square feet of rose bed area, and water it in. Use of high analysis fertilizer is discouraged.

Most Mississippi lawns have spent the summer recovering from winter damage. While there is still time to establish warm-season warm-season turfgrasses causes more controversy than it should. Of concern is the need to fertilize the grass so that it is in good condition when cold weather arrives, but not so tender from overfertilization with nitrogen to be susceptible to cold injury.

Turfgrass on the Gulf Coast has a longer, warmer growing season that turfgrass in north Mississippi, and therefore requires more fertilizer.

However, different grasses have different fertility needs, and this complicates the issue. Check with your county extension office for local recommendations for your type of grass.

All those weeds that made your lawn look green in early spring will most likely be back next spring if you don't apply a pre-emergence herbicide in late summer.

Weed seeds remain dormant all summer and begin to germinate as fall approaches. Since the seedlings are tiny, they aren't evident in the grass until cool weather slows grass growth. It is necessary to apply the herbicide before the weed seeds germinate.

Vegetable garden activity centers around harvesting, planting, watering and pest control. An August planting of bush snap beans, cucumbers and summer squash is possible where irrigation is available.

Also, seeds of cabbage, broccoli, cauliflower and rutabaga should be planted by mid-August in the northern half of the state and by late August in the southern half.

Don't delay planting seeds of these vegetables until the weather cools. Late planting means late maturing and

Post-Enumeration Census Survey underway

The 1990 Post-Enumeration Survey (PES), a major vehicle for measuring the completeness of the 1990 Decennial Census, is underway.

After the basic census enumeration, interviewers return to the field in a sample of blocks throughout the nation.

More than 2,000 interviewers will be employed for the operation. They will visit about 150,000 housing units and try to identify all people living in them at the time of the PES.

Since the PES is used to measure the completeness of the census, interviewing cannot start until nonresponse follow-up is finished for an area.

The interviews are scheduled to be completed by mid-August.

An adult member of each household will be asked for the names and characteristics (age, race, sex and date of birth) of each resident and where each individual lived on April 1, census day. The interview is expected to last about 15 minutes per household.

After the PES interviews come back, they are matched to the census. Most will match, but there will be some people in the census and not in the PES and vice versa. Most of these people will be followed up again from mid-November through mid-December.

From the percentages not counted and incorrectly counted in the census, the Census Bureau can estimate the degree to which the population of the nation was undercounted during the census. Furthermore, it can compute and study these undercount estimates for different sections of the country and for different age, sex and racial groups.

A second way of measuring the completeness of the census will be to analyze sources of information, such as those found in administrative records, other than the census of 1990 itself, to estimate how good the coverage of the total population was. This second method is referred to as demographic analysis.

The results of all these efforts, coupled with the results of studies that will tell us how good the PES and the demographic analysis were, will provide information necessary to decide whether or not to adjust the census counts. If the census is to be adjusted, the announcement will be made later than July 15, 1991.

Cooking outside over a charcoal fire is fun. The food tastes so good, and everyone can be a part of the action.

You'll need some basic equipment, food, a few safety rules and your family or friends to share the fun.

Building A Fire

Getting the fire ready is half the work in outdoor cooking. Place the grill firmly on a level surface in an open area at least six feet from any buildings, shrubs, dry wood or low branches.

Do not place a grill in a closed area such as a garage—even if it rains. Fumes from charcoal are dangerous.

Arrange charcoal briquettes in the bottom of the fire bowl. Place briquettes in a small pyramid. Soak the briquettes in charcoal lighter fluid.

Do not use gasoline for starter because it can cause a dangerous flash fire. Let charcoal lighter fluid stand a few minutes and ignite using long matches or a special electric starter. Do not add charcoal lighter fluid after the coals are lighted.

Charcoal burns slowly. It will take 20 to 30 minutes for the coals to become gray and ready for cooking. Spread gray coals evenly in the fire bowl and adjust the grill for cooking.

You may wish to line the fire bowl with heavy duty aluminum foil. The foil will reflect heat and make the food cook faster and more evenly.

When the coals are cool, you can fold the foil around the ashes for easy cleanup.

Equipment

Outdoor cooking requires some basic equipment. The equipment need not be expensive.

sive. You can even make some of it yourself. To start you will need several items.

* A fire bowl or container for the charcoal briquettes can be purchased or made from bricks, cement blocks or a gallon bucket.

* Obtain a metal grill with wires close enough together so that food will not fall through.

* Don't forget smaller items such as a long-handled fork, tongs and spatula for arranging coals and turning or handling food.

* Remember a potholder or mitt to protect hands.

Food Items

Why not try a meal in a bundle? A hobo dinner is a nutritious meal cooked in a bundle of foil over a charcoal fire while you enjoy a game of badminton or chat with your friends.

You can do the food preparation in the kitchen and bring the prepared bundles to the cooksite. The rest of the meal can be prepared ahead and refrigerated until it is time to eat.

Hobo dinners can be frozen or packed in a cooler if they will be sitting out of doors before cooking.

When charcoal fire is ready for cooking, place bundles on grill set about 3 inches above the fire. Cook one hour or until done.

Serve hobo dinner right from the foil bundle with radishes and celery sticks, crunchy buttered wheat toast and cold fruit punch.

To make the toast, butter wheat bread on both sides and toast over coals three to five minutes per side.

GRILLING STEAKS

Steak is the king of American meats and is enjoyed at its best when grilled outdoors. Select your favorite cut of steak, at least 1 1/2 inches thick, and keep it cold until cooking time. The thicker the cut of meat, the juicier it will be.

When the charcoal fire is ready for cooking, place steak on grill set about 6 to 8 inches above the coals. Season with salt, pepper and garlic powder, if desired, to taste.

Broil meat until it reaches the desired doneness. Turn meat about half-way through the cooking period. Use tongs to turn. Season other side of steak.

COOKING UP
A STORM

By Katie
McGuire Caire

Those who think of Mexican food as all fiery peppers and frijoles (refried beans) and tamales would be most pleasantly surprised at the dinner tables of many of our friends in Old Mexico, where flavor nuances as delicate as those of Creole cookery often delight the diner.

Here's a very old Mexican recipe which is known as "Pollos Borrachos"—"Drunken Turtle-doves"—the native theory being that the birds grow tipsy from the wine in the pan in which they are cooked, so my hostess told me one evening in Monterey.

Rock Cornish Hens or quartered broiler chickens are delicious in this dish. At times I cook this dish atop the stove, at other times in the oven, with equally good results—at least, there's never any leftover! Here's:

POLLOS BORRACHOS
2 quartered broilers, 2 1/2 to 3 lbs. each
Pepper, salt as desired
1/4 cup oil

1 crushed clove of garlic
2 tsp. chopped parsley
2 tsp. sesame seeds
1/2 cup slivered almonds
1 bayleaf
1/4 tsp. cloves, small cinnamon stick
1 cup dry sherry
2 Tbsp. vinegar
15 or so sliced ripe olives.

Sprinkle the broilers with pepper and salt (I add a little cayenne pepper as well to mine) and set aside, while you saute the crushed clove of garlic, the chopped parsley and sesame seeds in the quarter cup of oil in a heavy skillet for five minutes.

Add the chicken quarters (you may need two skillets, of course, or cook in relay-fashion). Cook over medium heat until light brown on both sides, and add the slivered almonds. Add a bayleaf, the dash of cloves and the small stick of cinnamon.

Continue cooking for a minute or so, then add the dry sherry, the vinegar and olives, and simmer, covered for a half hour, or a bit more if necessary, until the chicken is tender.

In some areas of Mexico I have enjoyed this dish with tomato chunks and raisins added, and with green olives in place of the ripe ones. You may prefer to use ground cinnamon to taste, instead of the cinnamon stick—just vary the additions to suit your taste! (Six to 8 servings) Ole!

Favre: No need to amend city's revenue projections

BY TRACI BONNEY

Bay St. Louis Mayor Edward Favre had good news and bad news for the city council at its Tuesday meeting.

The good news was that the city had received about $50,000 more than expected in its 1989-1990 budget.

The bad news was that the city had received about $15,000 less in sales taxes than expected. Favre said this was a two percent reduction in sales tax revenues.

Favre said the city uses the revenue projections to predict the revenues for the next fiscal year's budget. Since no shortfall has been found, he added, there is no need at this point to amend the 1989-1990 revenue projections before using them.

Municipal clerk Kay Johnson explained Wednesday that the projections must be amended if any department's actual revenues are more than 10 percent off the projections. She said so far there has been no need to make changes.

Favre also told the council about plans to construct a "shoo-fly," or raised wooden deck, around the large oak tree next to City Hall. He recommended that the council solicit a proposal from Kevin Fitzpatrick on the cost to design and build the deck, with Fitzpatrick supervising the construction. The council agreed with his recommendation.

In other business, the council: —accepted a bid from Blue Streak Motors for the purchase of a 1988 Ford Crown Victoria to replace a wrecked Bay St. Louis police unit; —and voted to place "No alcoholic beverages" signs at the Babe Ruth, Little League and McDonald ball fields and the Martin Luther King, Julia Street and Seventh Street parks.

The council adjourned until Aug. 14.

Redfish management plan approved

The Commission on Wildlife, Fisheries and Parks approved a plan, designed to provide the Bureau of Marine Resources with a flexible means to manage red drum stocks in Mississippi waters.

The action was taken in Greenwood at the commission's monthly meeting.

The redfish management plan, drafted over the past six months by biologists in BMR's Division of Saltwater Fisheries, incorporates several monitoring procedures, giving biologists the scientific information they need to modify redfish regulations in the future.

The management plan will be held in the Secretary of State's office for 60 days, awaiting further public comment.

A public hearing on the plan was held June 27. Some suggestions proposed at that hearing were incorporated into the plan.

If, at the end of the 60-day period, no changes are made, the plan will go into effect.

The plan complements several ordinances, which went into effect July 1.

"The management plan allows for a more complete and planned management of the fishery to ensure a healthy fish population and optimal use of the resource at all times," said Tom Van Devender, BMR chief of saltwater fisheries. "It means that we'll be able to change these ordinances on a yearly basis, depending on the needs of the red drum fishery."

The plan provides for:
—Regular collection of redfish tagging statistics. This will give scientists a picture of redfish migration, growth and movements.

—Regular creel survey information, providing information on the size and numbers of fish caught by recreational fishermen.

—Monitoring the size of the offshore spawning population by analyzing redfish eggs and larvae.

—Monthly gill net sampling to determine the abundance of redfish in given age groups.

—Regular gathering of commercial landings data to provide information on the total pounds of redfish caught commercially each year and the areas fished.

—Analyzing the ear bones of landed redfish to determine the

Dove hunting seasons set

When the state Department of Wildlife, Fisheries and Parks begins issuing preliminary season dates, and other hunting news, sportsmen know that the fall hunting season is just around the corner.

The first dove season opens Sept. 1 and closes Sept. 23. The second season begins Oct. 13 and closes Oct. 27, with the third season beginning Dec. 22 and closing Jan. 12.

Hunters will have a total of 60 days of dove hunting. The daily bag limit is 15 and the possession limit is 30. A possession limit is not allowed on the opening day of any season.

Figures from the department show that hunters harvest more than 3 million mourning doves in the Magnolia State each year.

Other preliminary migratory bird seasons include woodcock, which opens Dec. 26 and closes Feb. 28. The bag limit is 5 per day and the possession limit is 10.

The season on clapper, king, sora, and Virginia rails, common moorhens, and purple gallinules opens Oct. 13 and closes Dec. 21.

The daily limit is 15 and the possession limit is 30, except on sora and Virginia rails, where the bag limit and possession limit are 25.

Common snipe hunting opens Nov. 14 and closes Feb. 28. The daily limit is 8 and the possession limit is 16.

Shooting hours are one-half hour before sunrise until sunset.

Officials say that even though the dates announced are preliminary, they are not likely to change. The Commission on Wildlife, Fisheries and Parks approved the dates at its meeting Tuesday.

Migratory birds are protected by state and federal laws. Hunters must have their shotguns plugged and incapable of holding more than three shells.

Hunters must have a valid hunting license signed and on their person before going afield.

Red snapper restrictions topic of public hearing

Reductions in the directed red snapper commercial quota from 3.1 to 1.0 million pounds and in the recreational bag limit from seven to two fish per person per day are proposed for implementation in 1991 by the Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council.

In addition, the council has proposed a shrimp trawling closed season in the Gulf from May 1 through July 31 beginning in 1991 with either additional closures or requirements for trawl gear modifications in 1991 to reduce bycatch of small snapper.

Rebuilding the red snapper population cannot be affected without protecting juvenile snapper from harvest as bycatch in the trawl fishery. An estimated 12 million small red snapper are killed annually by trawls.

These regulations are proposed to further protect the overfished red snapper population in federal waters throughout the Gulf of Mexico from Key West, Fla. to Brownsville, Texas, as part of an annual review procedure.

Red snapper are severely overfished in the Gulf of Mexico and the spawning stock is so reduced that the population may either be in a state of collapse or dangerously close to collapse.

New evidence on the impacts of shrimp trawl bycatch indicate that substantial reductions in both the directed fishery and trawl bycatch are needed to restore red snapper stocks.

The council's goal is to rebuild the red snapper stock by the year 2000 and the council has considered 13 different sets of quotas, bag limits, closures and trawl restrictions that would accomplish this goal. The proposed management measure attains the council's goal with the least negative impacts.

Copies of the summary material to be presented at the public hearings may be obtained from the Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council office, 5401 West Kennedy Boulevard, Suite 881, Tampa, Fla. 33609, 813-228-2815.

Comments on the proposed regulations may be made at the hearings or by mail to the council office by Sept. 7, 1990.

The council is expected to finalize its decision at a meeting in New Orleans during the week of Sept. 17.

A public hearing will be from 7 to 10 p.m. Tuesday, August 28 at the Mobile Civic Center, Room 14, 401 Civic Center Drive, Mobile, Ala. 36601.

Bay-Waveland Yacht Club junior sailor Mallory Mestayer will return this weekend from Cascais, Portugal where she is vying for the 1990 Optimist World Championship.

She earned the right to compete after being ranked in the top five optimist sailors in the United States in Clearwater Beach, Florida, earlier this year.

Wildlife Federation Extravaganza features hunting, fishing technique seminars, exhibits, demonstrations

August 10-12 promises to be a wild weekend at the Mississippi Trade Mart in Jackson. The Mississippi Wildlife Federation is hosting its fourth annual Mississippi Wildlife Extravaganza featuring Jim Fowler from "Mutual of Omaha's Wild Kingdom."

The three-day event includes a full slate of seminars and demonstrations plus hundreds of exhibitors selling the latest in official Boone and Crockett deer.

"There's never before been a concerted effort to locate the official Boone and Crockett and bring them together in one setting. We think it will be of great interest to Mississippi sportsmen and women."

Other new additions to the show are a statewide 3-D competition bowshoot sponsored by the Mississippi Bowhunters, a artists will be available during the show to meet people and sign copies.

Seminar speakers include bowhunting expert John Sloan of Texas; MSU wild turkey specialist Dr. George Hurst; and wildlife photographer Paul T. Brown.

Bass pro Larry Richter from Arkansas will demonstrate fishing techniques using his 5,000 gallon "Hawg Trough" fish tank during his daily seminars.

There will also be retriever, falconry and turkey calling demonstrations. In addition to four demonstrations by Jim Fowler, a special session for children will be held Friday afternoon at 3:15.

Children attending the show will also enjoy the shooting galleries, casting pond, sand painting and a special visit by Scarlett Fox, Ranger Rick and Smokey the Bear.

The federation is also hosting a statewide Big Buck contest in conjunction with the show.

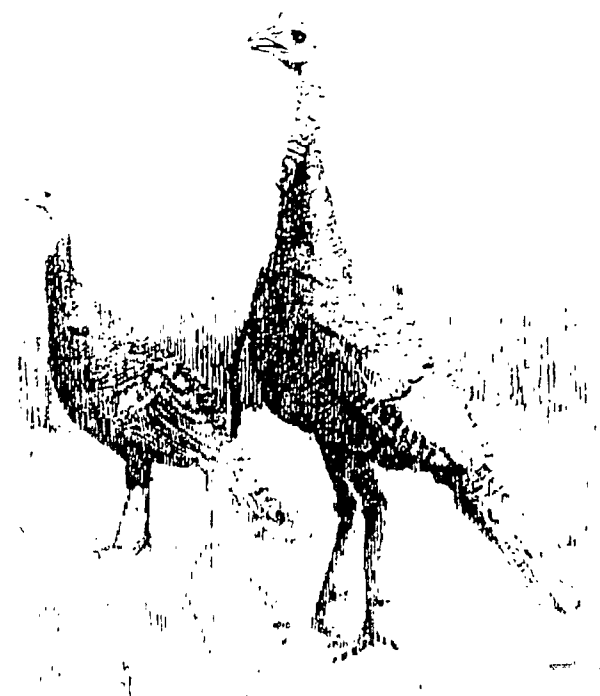

"Scoring for the Big Buck contest will begin on Saturday at 9 a.m., so all Big Buck entrants need to register on Friday between 3 p.m. and 7 p.m., or between 7 a.m. and 9 a.m. on Saturday. Room is still available in the contest, but pre-registration ends Aug. 3," said

Sam King, contest coordinator. Only deer taken in the '89-'90 deer season are eligible for the contest.

The Extravaganza is both a fundraiser and a conservation education event sponsored by the Mississippi Wildlife Federation. Several state and federal agencies and environmental conservation groups will also have exhibits at the show.

Tickets are $5 for adults, $3 for children ages six to 12, and under six is free. Weekend passes are also available for $10.

Show hours are 3-7 p.m. on Friday, 9 a.m.-7 p.m. on Saturday, and 10 a.m.-5 p.m. on Sunday. For more information, contact the Mississippi Wildlife Federation at 353-6922.

hunting and fishing gear, camping equipment, outdoor apparel, wildlife art, boats, ATVs, big game trips and much more.

"We've added several new features to the show this year," said Elizabeth Rooks, MWF Extravaganza coordinator.

A Boone and Crockett white-tailed deer display will include information, scores and the mounts of most of Mississippi's marksmanship range coordinated by the Mississippi Army National Guard and the release of a new book entitled "The Magnolia Club."

"The Magnolia Club" is a hardbound collection of short stories and poems by 23 of Mississippi's premier outdoor writers with illustrations from 13 native wildlife artists and nature photographers. All authors, photographers and

And the Wall came tumbling down...

Renkens' trip to Germany yields memories of historic blending of East/West Berlin

BY JANET MCQUEEN

A Diamondhead family enjoyed a once-in-a-lifetime experience as they witnessed history in the making on a recent trip to Berlin.

German born Hank Renken, his wife, Joan, and two sons, Chad, 11, and Scott, 10, stayed overnight in West Berlin, taking in as many of the sights as time would allow.

Renken works in Pass Christian for a Hamburg based company, Ter Chemicals, and travels to Germany and to his wife's native Netherlands frequently.

Although the unification will not become official until a December 2 election, changes are apparent to even the casual observer.

Streets and communications systems, which have been severed since 1945, are in the process of being reconnected. The Brandenburg Gate is enshrouded in scaffolding, according to Renken, to expedite its complete restoration with West German funds.

PRICE OF FREEDOM

Welcoming East Germany into freedom will not come cheaply to the West German government, where projected costs total $100 billion. According to Renken, much of this figure will be spent sustaining East German residents, who were employed in Communist government-owned industries, now financed through the West German welfare system until they can be employed.

"East Germans know a great deal about manufacturing as a result of their high quality, comprehensive and compulsory education system," said Renken. "Their engineering and vocational skills are comparable to the more industrialized countries of the world...but they have to be taught how to sell, market, be competitive and make a profit."

Meanwhile in West Germany, the entrepreneur spirit abounds as street vendors "sell everything from used sets of Soviet and East German military uniforms, medals, and helmets to bratwurst and beer."

Renken and his family noted the street vendors, whether dark skinned (Turkish) or white Anglo-Saxon, were West Germans selling their wares in the eastern zone.

CHANGING IMAGE

"East Germans are still trying to get used to the idea of shedding their communistic values of working for the 'state' rather than turning a profit working for themselves," he observed.

Chunks of the Berlin Wall were being sold for $1 to $10, depending on size. Chad and Scott chose to chisel their own souvenirs to guarantee authenticity, and used an angle iron and reinforcement bar steel to chip away some 22 chunks of the wall (one of which made its way into the hands of Gov. Ray Mabus, much to his delight).

Stark differences were noted when comparing the former two Berlins.

"The western side was alive with people, overcrowded sidewalks, automobile traffic, noise and commotion, whereas the eastern sector, just on the other side, was strangely quiet with very little human or automobile traffic (although cars were parked everywhere) although it was the middle of Friday afternoon.

"The East Germans we saw appeared indifferent to us and all the commotion at the wall itself. They simply went about their business and daily routines and seemed inclined to accept whatever fate lay before them—a fate they will decide for themselves on December 2," said Renken.

The East Germans, although highly educated and skilled, remain materially and technologically years behind, attributed to "a lack of resources."

"East Berliners typically live in small flats (apartments) and drive very small cars made by the Soviets and East Germans called 'Lada' and Trabant." The waiting time for one of these low-powered and apparently unreliable 1950's technology vehicles was the same as for a washing machine, anywhere from six to 10 years.

"However, the East German automobile shortage is being drastically reduced by an onslaught of used cars from the West. Now, West Germans complain they can't buy a good used car because they are rapidly disappearing to the East," he said.

WESTERN VIEW

The couple has maintained ties to family and friends in Holland and Germany, and were eager to discuss the

C. B. Murphy, North Bay receive computers, software

C. B. Murphy and North Bay Elementary have been awarded funding for computer labs as part of a statewide project to teach kindergarten and first grade children to read and write.

Governor Ray Mabus announced the grant, which will be funded by a partnership of charitable, business and state government sources, including the Riordan Foundation of Los Angeles and the RORD Foundation of Greenwich, Conn.

Goal of the program is to put a computer lab in every Mississippi elementary school within the next two years. The grant announced for C. B. Murphy and North Bay Elementary is part of the first phase of the program.

"Mississippi is well on its way in becoming the first state in America to have an extensive computer based literacy program in place for its children," Mabus said.

"The impact on future generations of students at C. B. Murphy and North Bay Elementary will be considerable," the governor said. "It's important to remember that every kindergarten and first grader from here on will graduate with literacy skills. That, by itself, will have a tremendous effect on Mississippi's future."

"Writing to Read" is an educational computer system developed by IBM that helps develop the writing and reading skills of kindergarten and first grade students.

Using a variety of tools—from computers, cassette tapes and children's books, to clay, sand, blocks and crayons—children discover that they can read by first learning to write anything they can say.

C. B. Murphy and North Bay Elementary will receive computers, computer software, teacher training and accompanying instructional materials for the lab.

"This project represents a commitment by both public and private sources to provide children with a successful first educational experience," said James E. Dezell, IBM vice president and general manager for IBM Educational Systems.

unification of East and West Berlin.

"Among people in the Netherlands, the consensus is the unification process seemed very sudden and much too fast, particularly for the older generation, who endured Hitler's Blitzkrieg in 1940 resulting in Holland's defeat," said Renken.

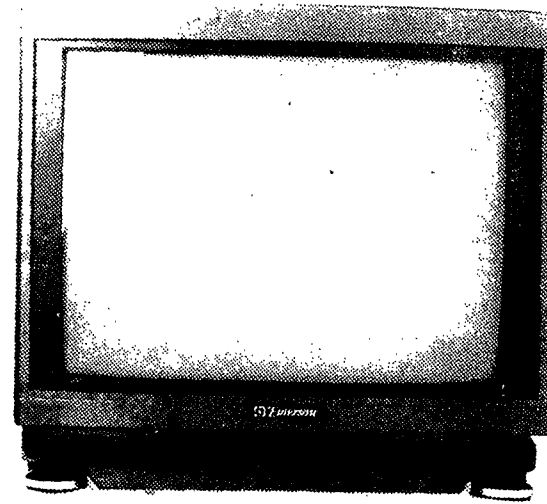

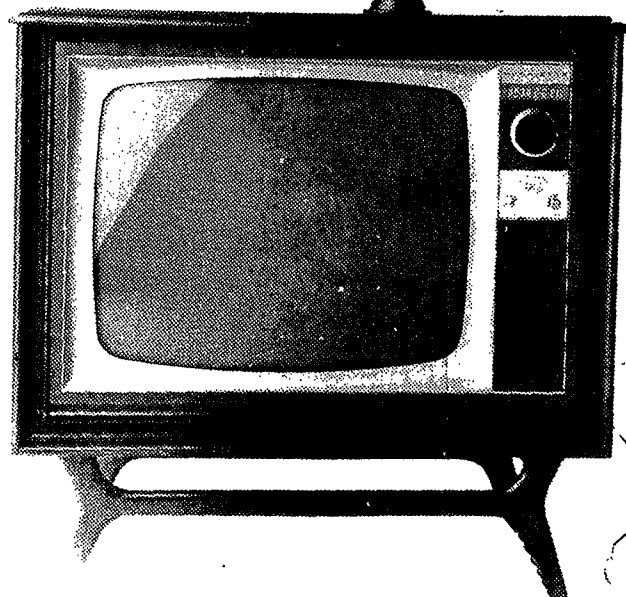

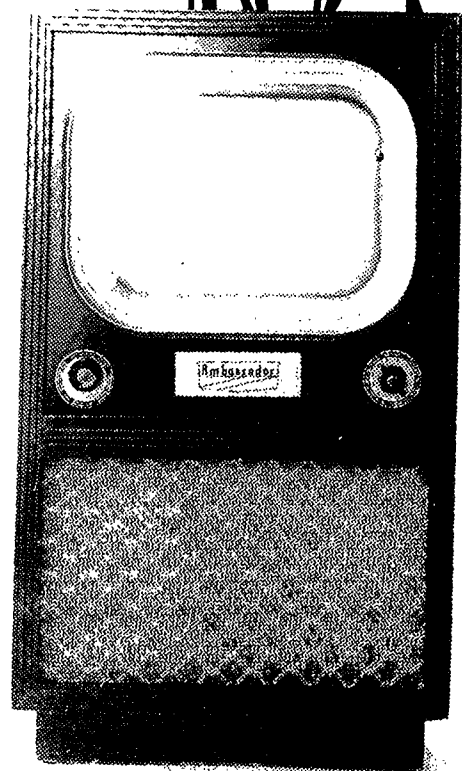

He noted animosity exists between the younger generation of Dutch citizens and their German counterparts who flock to the Dutch beaches, evidenced during his stay in the coastal resort, Noordwijk.

Opinions vary, he said, as to whether the resentment stems from memories of WWII or an underlying feeling of envy of the current economic boom and resulting wealth enjoyed by many German citizens.

The West Germans Renken spoke with felt the unification issue was "less of an emotional issue and more of an economic one." Concern was expressed over the cost of the process now and in the future.

"In spite of all the changes, hopes and fears for the future—one need only look at the site of the memorials dedicated to the East Germans who were shot in their attempts to escape during the 28-year period the Berlin Wall existed (1961-89) to be reminded of what it means to be really free as an American," he said

Opting out of traditional benefits like health insurance, however, may not be the wisest move to make. Think twice before you make a change in this direction.

A cash increase of as much as $400 per month may seem inviting to anyone's budget, but it may not be the best decision for a family without other health insurance. Some companies require that the family have other insurance before opting out of medical coverage. Even if two insurance plans are available, as in the case of a two-income family, the decision is not as simple as which employer has the cheapest premium.

One policy may have a $150 deductible. Another policy may have a $500 deductible. One policy may pay 80 percent, another 75 percent.

One policy may cover psychiatric care, another may not. Out-of-pocket limits vary from one plan to another.

Some policies have a lifetime dollar limit on the total amount they will pay for medical expenses.

Cancer, heart disease, or a car accident could use up all benefits if the lifetime limit is not a suitable level. Preferable, but usually more expensive policies, have no lifetime limit.

The family must determine what level of coverage is most appropriate and important for them. For example, a family with a child who has allergies or asthma, would consider prescription drug coverage more important than the average family.

Once you turn down medical coverage, you may have difficulty picking it back up again. Most companies require that you wait until the annual re-enrollment period unless there has been a divorce or a spouse loses his job and benefits. In some cases deductibles may be higher and pre-existing conditions may not be covered.

The two most important questions when making the decision to opt out of employer health insurance are how well would you be covered in case of a catastrophe and how hard would it be to get back in once you're cut if necessary.

With the number of flexible benefit packages doubling in the past five years, the trends indicate that more and more of us will have choices like these to make. Be sure you are making an educated decision based on all the known factors.

Keep your cool during August's heat

The reality of August is upon us, the eighth month of the year with 31 heat-filled days.

One definition of August is "imposing and magnificent." We who live on the Mississippi Gulf Coast probably have another definition for this month of scorching sun and dry, dry weather. Frankly we should watch it carefully and try to keep cool and pleasant.

Here are a few "tips" we might consider:

1. The telephone: Try not to get irked when the caller hangs up just as you reach the phone.

South Central Bell gives us the following suggestions: Be sure you have the right number before dialing. Is one of the numbers? Use the telephone directory. Place your own calls. Identify yourself. Your voice might not be recognized immediately.

There are four time zones in the United States. Direct dial your long distance calls and take into consideration the time zone.

2. Try to think of something funny or amusing to share with a friend. A laugh breaks the heat tension. Think back to school days when you were required to memorize Hiawatha and read aloud George A. Strong's version.

Here it is:

"He killed the noble Mudjokivis. With the skin he made him mittens. Made them with the fur side inside, made them with the skin side outside. He, to get the warm side inside, put the inside skin side outside. He to get the warm side inside.

Put the inside skin outside; He to get the cold side outside.

Put the warm side fur side inside.

That's why he put the fur side inside.

Why he put the skin side outside.

Why he turned them inside outside."

3. Air conditioner out of order? Try visiting a friend or go to the library or some other public building that is air conditioned. Or get near the water. It's some cooler at the beach.

Dress properly, beach hat or cap. How about shorts? How about sunglasses to protect against glare?

4. Attitude is important. Remember conditions do change!

New Hancock High School anticipates 1,100 students

Special to the Echo

To get off to a good beginning this year, a three-day staff development has been planned at Hancock County schools with a variety of activities. Orientation for all personnel will take place Aug. 14 at the new high school on Stennis Drive. A dynamic speaker, Paul Wilson of Point Clear, Ala. will talk to personnel about motivation.

On the morning of Aug. 15, all teachers and assistants will visit Stennis Space Center, and in the afternoon, participate in a computer workshop and/or effective instruction.

On the afternoon of the Aug. 15, kindergarten teachers will attend a workshop by Dr. Gloria Corro from Mississippi State on evaluation and other up-to-date practices for the classroom.

On Aug. 16, school personnel will work on the effective instruction program. Chapter I assistant teachers will meet as a separate group on this date with the Chapter I coordinator.

"Educational Opportunity, Imagination and Progress" is the motto of Hancock County schools and every indication points to the realization of this goal. Some 1,100 students in grades 7-12 throughout the county will enter this fall into the most modern, up-to-date school facility available. The $11 million complex includes 203,000 square feet and is adjacent to the Pear River Community College Vo-Tech Center at Stennis Airfield.

The site is designed to house a lighted baseball field, soccer field, track field, and a football stadium that doubles the seating capacity of the previous facility. A new cafeteria, which will seat 500, will boast six serving lines.

Renovations at Hancock North Central Elementary will include extensive external and internal improvements in order to provide a pleasant, attractive and conducive environment in which students will learn.

All elementary schools will consist of grades K-6, since grades 7-12 will attend the new Hancock High School. Former assistant principal Betty McLeod will assume the job as principal of this site with an assistant principal yet to be hired.

Innovative courses for school year 90-91 include German through the satellite program, technology in education, junior high home economics, diversified technology and business computer applications.

New programs planned for 1990-91 include "Jobs for American Graduates" (JAG), a successful school-to-work transition program for at-risk youth.

It is designed to work within the school system to assist high school seniors in comfortably making the transition from the classroom to the world of work.

Channel I, a daily 12-minute news and information system, will be broadcast to classrooms via high-tech conduit TV monitors. Its dynamic format, using teenage hosts and state-of-the-art graphics, helps make current and national world events relevant to students.

Approximately $17,000 has been budgeted for drug programs and grants. The Dwight D. Eisenhower Grant is earmarked for math and science programs, Chapter II and for library materials.

Chapter I has expanded its program to include a lab at the new high school with a lab of 20 terminals. A stand-alone computer will provide an individualized program of study in math and reading.

An IBM "Writing to Read" lab will be placed at Charles B. Murphy Elementary this year to serve kindergarten and first grade students in learning to write and increase vocabulary along with creativity.

A general supply list for elementary classes includes a school bag, loose leaf paper, notebooks, folders, No. 2 pencils, crayons, ruler, scissors, kleenex, dictionary, glue and erasers. Specific lists will be given at schools.

Effective for the 1990-91 school year, Hancock County School District will require students who are seeking to enroll or continue to be enrolled to register at the school they are to attend, with residency verification.

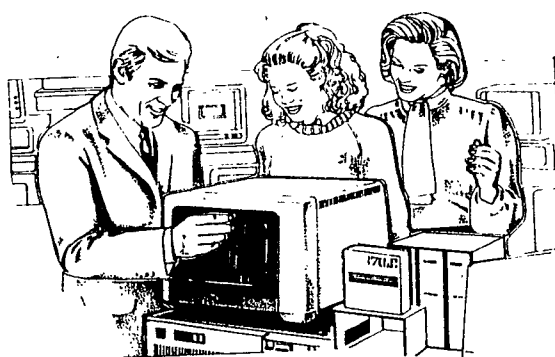

At least two of the following items must be provided: Filed

Christian based curriculum used at Dominion Academy

BY TRACI BONNEY

Dominion Christian Academy "ACEs" education. Dominion includes students in grades K-12 and uses the ACE or Advanced Christian Education curriculum used by more than 7,000 schools across the United States and in other countries. The curriculum stresses individualized instruction while maintaining social contact among the students.

William and Margaret Delcuze founded Dominion

Academy as an education ministry outreach of Dominion Christian Fellowship, a non-denominational church pastored by William Delcuze.

William said the ACE curriculum, which was first developed by a Texas-based company 20 years ago, differs from most accepted public school curricula because it is time-variable and content-constant. "In much of education, time is held at a constant and the content is varied. A student may not complete the work in a textbook in a school year, yet he is considered to have passed the year if he has the right grades."

In the ACE curriculum, a student is expected to complete all the work for a grade level and receive a grade of 90 percent or better on all tests, no matter how long it takes that student to master the material. Only when the student masters all the material for a grade level can he pass to the next level.

THE MOST IMPORTANT LETTERS WHEN IT COMES TO DRUGS

Teaching your children the ABC's is fine, but you also need to teach them about drug abuse and the special importance of the letters "NO." Teach them the drug alphabet early in life, and help them from becoming another statistic in America's fastest growing disease—drug and alcohol addiction. Let them learn their ABC's in school, but teach them their "NO'S" at home.

of questions.

When the child says she doesn't like eating lunch in the cafeteria, instead of asking "why" consider saying, "tell me how you feel when you are in the cafeteria."

Try to put yourself in the child's place before you respond. Empathize as much as possible, and you'll find the child's fears and apprehensions will disappear much quicker than if you are giving a lecture and how her feelings are.

With firm, patient and reassuring support, most children adjust well to school. This adjustment allows them to learn and develop successfully.

USM outlines registration deadlines

Students who plan to attend the University of Southern Mississippi for the fall semester—but miss the Aug. 24 payment deadline—may be disappointed, an official said.

USM Registrar Danny Montgomery said all students who have registered but have not paid their fees by 5 p.m. Aug. 24 will have their classes cancelled. An Aug. 14 postmark must be on mailed-in fees to prevent class cancellation.

"In the past, students have not worried over the deadline, since they could arrive early the next morning and schedule the same classes again, ensuring their preferred schedule," ery said, noting that the process has caused some confusion in the past.

"All students—whether they are continuing students, the recipients of financial aid, athletes, those on graduate fellowships and teaching assistantships, part-time students or faculty-staff members enrolling for courses—must sign their fee invoices and return them to the USM Business Office, even if the payment required is zero," Montgomery said.

Fee invoices will be mailed to students July 31, and those registering by telephone after July 31 will not have invoices mailed to them. Students may invoices from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. weekdays Aug. 1-17 in the business office in Forrest County Hall, or from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Aug. 20-24 in the University Union.

USM Public Safety officials also will be available in Room G of the Union Aug. 20-24 and 27-28 to distribute car registration decals.

The first session only of Monday-Wednesday-Friday (MWF) day classes will meet on Tuesday, Aug. 28 with MWF classes resuming their normal schedule on Wednesday, Aug. 29.

Night classes will be as sche-instruction without a Saturday make-up day, Montgomery noted.

Late registration will begin Aug. 28, along with a $50 late registration fee. The process may be completed from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. in the University Union through Aug. 31.

Drop/adds may be processed by telephone Aug. 28-31 for students who have already registered. The process also may be completed from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. in the University Union on the same dates.

Students may access the registration telephone lines Aug. 8-14 from midnight to 10 p.m. for a report of summer semester grades, the registrar said.

Montgomery explained.

"That has changed now, since new and re-applying students attending the last orientation session on Aug. 27 will have their class schedules approved at that point, and those returning students who failed to take care of business will be disappointed," the official said.

Montgomery outlined a number of important dates and stressed that there no longer is a regular registration period, nor are there specified periods for certain classifications of students to call in their registration.

Using Southern's Telephone-Assisted Registration System (STARS), all students except new undergraduates may call in their fall semester registration until July 27. The 24 telephone lines are available from midnight until 10 p.m. each day.

Meal plan and vehicle registration options also may be indicated using STARS.

All students calling in to register must get their fee invoices confirmed, Montgomcontinue to register or drop/add by telephone Aug. 15-24.

Failure to confirm fee invoices in the past has automatically canceled the registration of scores of those listed above, Montgomery said. He stressed the option to confirm duled beginning Monday, Aug. 27 and Tuesday-Thursday classes will meet for the first time on Thursday, Aug. 30.

The one-time Tuesday meeting of MWF classes will enable university officials to meet requirements for hours of

Getting ready for school

It's almost time for school to start again. While that's important to all parents of school age children, it is especially important to the parents of first-timers, whether it be kindergarten or the first grade.

Parents want their children to be successful in school and the steps taken in the next few weeks may offer a pattern of success or failure. To assure the best start, list the things to be done in chronological order. While some tasks will be listed, each parent must make up their own individual plan of action.

Check the child's medical record and be sure that all shots are up to date. If a trip to the doctor's office or health department is called for, do it early. Doctors offices are very crowded just before school opens.

Think seriously about your child's readiness for school. Just because a child will be five years old on Aug. 24 does not mean that he is socially, emotionally, intellectually or even physically ready for school.

Call your school and inquire where and under what conditions readiness screening is provided. If your child's kindergarten or nursery school teacher recommends holding the child back, take this suggestion seriously.

Many children benefit greatly from having an extra year in which to mature. Boys, especially, tend to be a little immature at this stage of life.

Three to five days before school starts, call the school and make arrangements for a dry run. Start at the bus stop and then go on to the school grounds. Walk through the child's day in a logical order by going first to the classroom or assembly area, then to the bathroom, cafeteria, library and other common places.

Make this a leisurely, pleasant visit that assures the child will get the best possible feel for the environment. Children with a sensitive, hesitant temperament are the ones who need this orientation the most. However, all children benefit from this approach.

Since not all parents can free up time during the work week to make this visit to school, explore other possibilities. Could a teenager, adult friend or relative take the child inside the school, leaving the bus stop and outside area to be explored by parent and child on the weekend?

If after school child care arrangements are necessary, they also should be carefully explained and explored with the child.

Be prepared to handle your own feelings to present a consistently positive, healthy attitude to your child. Many children do well on the first school day, and it is the parent who experiences a difficult adjustment. School is a visual milestone in the child's journey to independence. Some parents are not emotionally prepared for the jolt.

From the first day, establish an afternoon and evening routine for the child. For the beginner that may mean an appropriate blend of the following:

- 1) quiet time with books and/or educational toys (later this will become homework time);
- 2) active playtime (outdoors whenever possible);
- 3) household chores;
- 4) limited television watching (may be 1 to 1½ hours); and
- 5) a consistent bedtime.

Be a better-than-usual listener during the first few weeks of school. Encourage the child to open up by using "feeling" responses instead of a barrage

Another difference is that the curriculum allows the student to work at his or her grade level in each subject. In other words, a student may be at a third grade level in one subject, fourth in another, sixth in a third subject and eighth in the fourth area.

ACE lets the student "catch up" by learning the skills and knowledge needed to arrive at the level where he or she should be, and work at higher levels in those areas where he or she has advanced beyond his or her grade level.

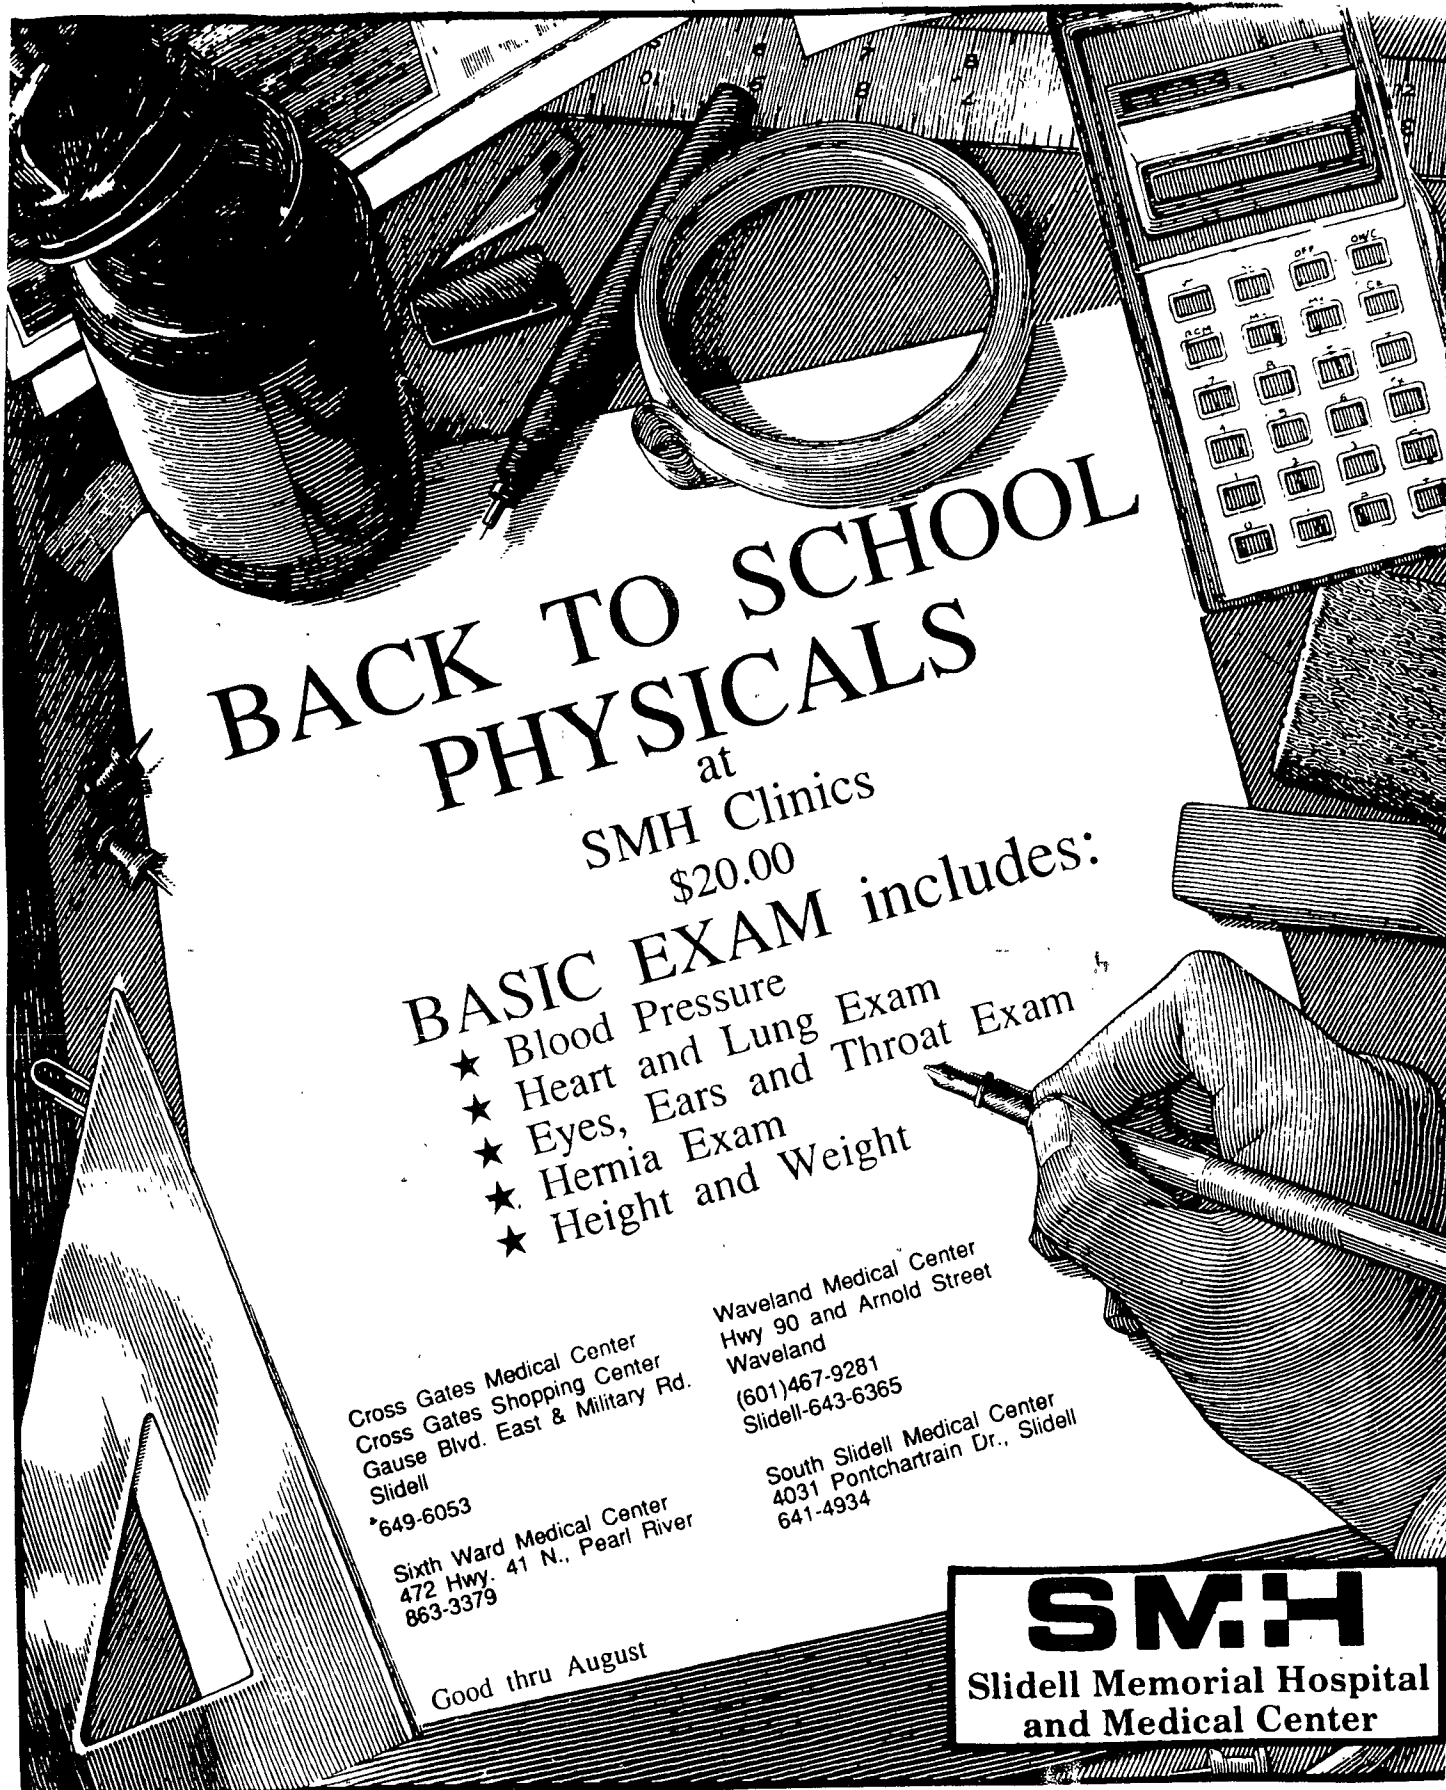

Dominion also is developing a computer-enhanced curriculum through ACE which will supplement the written materials. In addition, the school offers field trips and art, music and physical education courses.

Registration is $75, and tuition is $850 plus book fees to be paid as the books are used. Tuition can be paid monthly starting Aug. 1.

Students are required to wear uniforms, which can be purchased at Jerome's. Boys' shirts must be red or white polo-style shirts, while girls are expected to wear red or white button-down blouses. Navy pants, skirts or jumpers are required, as are closed-toe loafer-style shoes. Tennis shoes can be worn only for physical education classes.

The school year begins Sept. 4.

SPORTS CHALLENGE

SWEEPSTAKES

Every week our circular will contain a brain-teasing sports question. Come to your local K mart where you will find the correct answers on in-store signs. Find sweepstakes entry forms at the Service Desk. Each week there's a new question, a new chance to win!

ENTER EACH WEEK FOR EACH WEEK'S DRAWING!

Your correct entry makes you eligible for instant prizes awarded every 15 minutes on Saturday from 9 to 11 a.m. One correct entry per store will be chosen at 11 a.m. each Saturday and entered into the national Grand Prize Sweepstakes. National sweepstakes winners will be drawn after Sept. 8, the end of the promotion. No purchase necessary. Void where prohibited. See store for contest rules and details.

Aug. 5

QUESTION OF THE WEEK

In soccer, how many of the following parts of the body can you hit the ball with if you're not the goalie: head, foot, knee, elbow, back, finger, shin?

A. 3 B. 4 C. 5 D. 6

GIFTS IN KIND AMERICA

K mart has teamed up with Gifts in Kind America* for a brand new program. From Aug. 5 thru Sept. 8, a school supply drop box will be at each K mart store. Donate new or almost-new school supplies. Your gifts will be distributed to needy schools and agencies benefiting children across America.
